Income protection keeps Bill comfortable after heart attack.

On 7 October 2016, Bill Parker was working at JBS Dinmore at his usual slicing station when he had a minor heart attack. While he wasn't in pain, he was unable to do anything physical. He was helped from the floor and a short time later was in the back of an ambulance heading for Ipswich Hospital.

After three days at Ipswich, Bill was transferred to Princess Alexandra Hospital where he underwent an angiogram to establish the location of any blocked arteries that had caused the attack.

Bill Parker

Solid. Strong. Yours.

September 2017

The doctors found not one, but three narrowing arteries and consequently, a triple by-pass was performed on 17 November 2016. The following six months saw Bill recovering and he returned to light duties at Dinmore on 4 May 2017, feeling much improved, but still regaining his health. Sensibly, Bill no longer smokes and is starting to regain the taste of food.

Bill submitted his claim for his income protection benefit early in the 30-day waiting period and as soon as the wait was over, the money started flowing in. He was extremely grateful to have this financial support during the time he had off work and fortunately, he had increased his cover to 7 units well before he suffered the heart attack.

Bill said the claim form was "fairly cruisey" to complete for the most part.

Good planning puts Bill in good stead.

Nearly a year before his heart attack, Bill Parker started a Transition to Retirement (TTR) pension. Under the TTR rules, you can top up your income by converting part of your existing super to an Account Based Pension. This facility then pays you a regular income, or pension, which in turn allows you to put a larger part of the salary from your job back into your super. So your super grows through salary sacrifice, but your lifestyle is maintained because you live on the combination of the Account Based Pension income plus the balance of your salary. This is exactly how it worked for Bill and allowed him to increase his total super balance significantly over the following 12 months.

Are you still paying triple tax on your super? Stop it now!

If we don't have your tax file number (TFN):

- You'll be paying the top rate of tax on all super contributions (rather than the normal 15%)
- You won't be able to make any extra contributions to your super,

• You won't be eligible to receive additional contributions through the Government Co-contribution scheme.

Plus, we're planning to run lost super searches and if we don't have your TFN, we won't be able to find any lost super you may have.

So go on! Call the AMIST Super Hotline or visit the website to give us your TFN and stop wasting your money today!

Investment Portfolio changes over the past 12 months

Murray Rutherford. Head of Investments

Over the past twelve months the AMIST Super investment team has been actively seeking to enhance long-term returns across all investments within our portfolio to benefit our members.

To do this, we have worked on three key processes:

1. Review of investment objectives

AMIST Super has delivered strong long-term results for members, that have been in-line with other funds and well-above investment objectives. But can we do better? We think so.

After a thorough review of investment objectives, we have increased the return objective for the Balanced, My Super, Growth, and High Growth options by 1% each per annum. This increase is the result of our continued focus on member outcomes, strong results, and our expectations for the future performance from our investment managers. Also, we have recognised our size and stable member-base is a competitive advantage which allows us the opportunity to access markets and investment strategies that are under-utilised by other funds.

2. Review of Strategic Asset Allocation

As members, it is important for you to know that your super is in good hands. It should be well-managed by a high quality team, it should meet your retirement objectives and compare favourably with other funds.

One of the primary drivers of good long-term performance is asset allocation. As a result of our review in this area, we have reconfirmed the long-term asset allocation for each investment option. These allocations remain appropriate for the investment objectives in each option and are in line with other industry super funds. Within the Balanced, My Super, and Growth options, there is slightly more investment in Property and slightly less in Infrastructure when compared to the industry average. Recently this has served us well, given strong property price increases.

3. Review of underlying investments and managers

The majority of our work toward enhancing member outcomes has occurred by repositioning several individual investments. Whilst all current manager allocations remained suitable, under our review, we identified opportunities for upgrades in three areas:

- The introduction of new managers who are considered to have higher return potential in certain areas
- Increasing geographic diversification of our investments to take advantage of asset pricing in other parts of the world; and
- Increasing exposure to private markets that offer compelling return potential relative to public market options.

Over the past 12 months, AMIST Super has invested in 6 new managers for a total of $558 million (approximately 30% of total funds) committed to new strategies.

We have upgraded our global credit strategy to gain additional yield through an illiquidity premium. (This is where an asset cannot be sold immediately, without a potentially significant impact on price, so a premium is paid to the investor as compensation for tying up their capital.)

We have upgraded our Global Bond allocation to allow more diversity and flexibility.

We have upgraded our infrastructure holdings to introduce privately held assets around the world. And, we have upgraded our international equity holdings to separate accounts to reduce fees and increase control.

In summary, all of the changes have been made to ensure that the AMIST Super portfolio remains diversified, and in a position to provide strong returns to members while maintaining an appropriate risk profile across investment options. While risk will always exist in the marketplace, AMIST Super remains well positioned to weather storms and participate in the upside through exposure to high quality assets and active investment managers.

TTR puts Rob on the road to a dream retirement

Recently, AMIST Super Client Service Manager, Leisa Sheffield, called into the Bundy Chop Shop and heard a great testimonial service story she wanted to share with our members.

More than a year ago, Leisa was at the Bundy Chop Shop and explaining the transition to retirement strategy to a few members of staff. This strategy involves setting up a pension account and accessing up to 10% of the pension balance each year, while salary sacrificing to build retirement savings.

Robert Watson was one of the staff members who attended the session, but at the time it wasn't a strategy he wanted to implement.

But earlier this, year Rob decided he wanted to slow down a bit and start the all-Australian retirement dream – to travel around and do some part-time work whilst on the road.

Rob needed to access some of his super to set his plans in motion and remembered that there was a strategy he'd heard about from Leisa when she had last visited the shop. This could be the way, he thought.

Rob was a bit apprehensive about setting up the strategy by himself and was concerned it would take months. So he called the AMIST Super Hotline to see what assistance was available and how long it would take.

Rob could not praise the AMIST Super Hotline staff more highly. In his words, "they took the time to explain the strategy in my language and arranged to send out the relevant paperwork". Once he received the paperwork, Rob called the Hotline again to ensure he completed everything correctly. Rob told Leisa that the process from his original call to receipt of his first pension payment took way less time than he'd imagined.

Look out for Rob on the road as he starts his retirement journey.

Have you checked your income protection cover lately?

If you earn more than $32,000, chances are you're under-covered.

As a member of AMIST Super, if you are under the age of 70, you have automatically received 4 units of income protection insurance as part of your membership. Income protection pays up to the lesser of 75% of your wages, or the equivalent of $2,000 per month for up to two years if you become unable to work due to sickness or injury.

What does this mean? Members with 4 units of cover, earning less than $32,000, and making a successful claim will receive the equivalent of $2,000* per month or up to 2 years (payments stopping when returning to work).

But if you earn more than $32,000 and you are still on the default level of cover, then you are definitely under-insured. Why?

Because you'll only get up to $2,000* per month if you make a claim; not 75% of your actual wages.

Don't be caught short.

Check your level of cover today. The member statement you received along with this edition of SuperiFocus shows you how much cover you have. You can also find out by checking your details on MemberAccess or calling the AMIST Super Hotline on 1800 808 614.

You can stay with AMIST Super—no matter where you work

If you decide to change jobs sometime in the future, there'll be lots of new things ahead.

But one less thing to worry about is that you can take your AMIST Super membership with you wherever you go, even if you leave the meat industry altogether. Just go to the website, click on the guy with all the boxes and download the form. Fill it out and give it to your new employer. That way, you'll be sure your super contributions will continue to go to your AMIST Super account.

No more paper statements (unless you want them).

Members who are registered for our online account service, MemberAccess, have been automatically opted-in to receive their member statements online, rather than through the mail.

If you would prefer to continue receiving printed paper statements, you can opt-out at any time by changing your communication preferences within MemberAccess. Once you're logged into MemberAccess, "communications preferences" are located under "Personal details".
