

PROOF OF IDENTITY

The Federal Government introduced legislation in 2007 aimed at preventing money laundering and the financing of terrorism.

You are required to meet stringent proof of identity requirements when claiming a benefit from a superannuation fund. These requirements apply irrespective of whether you are receiving a direct payment from Australian Food Super, or rolling over to another fund.

In some instances you may be required to provide proof of identity before Food Super can accept contributions for you. In this case you would be requested to provide proof of identity at that time.

Proof of identity

Certified proof of identity is required for all claim types. Each member or beneficiary need only supply this once. Once proof of identity is on file there is no need to request it again, unless the member or their beneficiary is claiming a cash payment. In these circumstances proof of identity must be requested upon payment of each cash payment (excluding regular pension payments). Proof of identity must be in the form of acceptable documents. Acceptable documents are listed to the right.

Certification of personal documents

All copied pages of ORIGINAL proof of identification documents (including any linking documents) need to be certified as true copies by any individual approved to do so.

The person who is authorised to certify documents must view the original and the copy and make sure both documents are identical. Then they must make sure all pages have been certified as true copies by writing or stamping 'certified true copy' followed by their signature, printed name, qualification (e.g. Justice of the Peace, Australia Post employee, etc) and date. Where a person is relying on having held a position for a period of time (e.g. authorised representative of an Australian Financial Services Licensee), they will need to confirm in writing that they have been employed for the required period of time. The date of the certification must also appear.

The following people can certify copies of the originals as true and correct copies:

- a permanent employee of Australia Post with five or more years of continuous service,
